

Malcolm McEwen, PhD, FCOMP

Malcolm McEwen is Team Leader in the Ionizing Radiation Standards Group at the National Research Council. His specific expertise is in the development of calorimetric absorbed-dose standards and the characterization and application of secondary dosimeters. He is involved in the development of national and international dosimetry protocols for external beam radiation therapy and is currently a member of committees of the International Bureau of Weights and Measures (BIPM), the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA), and the American Association of Physicists in Medicine (AAPM).