

Marc Venturi

Manager of Accreditation and Quality Improvement
Canadian Association of Radiologists

Marc has a B.Sc. in Biology (biotechnology) from the University of British Columbia which led him into 6 years of research in focused on metabolic engineering.

From there he completed a Master in Health Administration with an administrative residency at the Ottawa Hospital/Ottawa Hospital Research Institutes. The following years were spent supporting research and removing the administrative barriers of performing research in a hospital setting. Now as Manager of Accreditation and QI for the Canadian Association of Radiologists, Marc is updating the Mammography Accreditation Program and working to provide additional accreditation services through the CAR.
