Nova Scotia Health Authority is the largest provider of health services in Nova Scotia. We are over 22,000 employees who provide health care and support services in hospitals, health centres and community-based programs throughout Nova Scotia.

Nova Scotia Health Authority provides health services to Nova Scotians and some specialized services to Maritimers and Atlantic Canadians. We operate hospitals, health centres and community-based programs across the province. Our team of health professionals includes employees, doctors, researchers, learners and volunteers that provide the health care or services you may need. This is accomplished across four geographic management zones which are responsible for the operation of acute care health centres and the provision of a variety of inpatient, outpatient services including academic, tertiary, quaternary care and community-based programs and services including continuing care, primary health care, public health, and mental health and addictions.

Responsibilities

The Medical Physics Resident will enter a two-year, CAMPEP-accredited training program in radiation oncology medical physics including 14 clinical rotations.

The Resident will be based in Halifax, Nova Scotia, in the Department of Medical Physics at the Queen Elizabeth II Health Sciences Centre, which treats over 2,000 new cancer patients per year. The Resident will be supervised by 9 oncology and 2 imaging medical physicists. The facility is equipped with seven Varian linear accelerators (including five Truebeam platforms as of 2016, one with ExacTrac/6D robotics), Eclipse and BrainLAB treatment planning systems, Elekta HDR, CT-Sim, and superficial x-ray. Active VMAT, IGRT, cranial SRS/SRT, SBRT, HDR brachytherapy, and total marrow irradiation programs are underway.
